Dear Park Neighbor,

We would like to inform you that the Krejci Dump Site clean-up is scheduled to commence on Wednesday, September 14, 2005. The Site is located adjacent to Hines Hill Road in Cuyahoga Valley National Park, Ohio, and is divided into two portions (the West and East sites) by I-271. The cleanup, known as the remedial action, will remove from the Site all debris and soils containing unacceptable levels of contaminants pursuant to the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (CERCLA), also known as Superfund.

For the first two weeks, work will consist of preparing the support zone, trailer mobilization, setting up utilities, surveying and construction of soil erosion control features. Significant off-site truck traffic will not commence until mid-October.

We have developed a web site to keep you informed about the clean-up activities. The web address is:

<http://www.nps.gov/cuva/management/rmprojects/factsheets/krejidump.htm>

On this web site you will find frequent project updates, a brief history of the site, links to presentations from the recent public meetings, and our public notification protocol. Please visit this web site when you wish to learn more about the current clean-up activities.

For further information about the Site remedial action, contact Kevin Skerl, Cuyahoga Valley National Park (Phone: 330-650-5071 extension 4) or Bob McCaig, Bureau of Reclamation, Krejci Site Project Manager for NFS (Phone: 303-445-2708).

Sincerely,

John P. Debo, Jr.
